

Abbreviation Apostrophes

We use apostrophes, which are like a comma above a word, to show that a letter or letters have been missed out.

Write down the full version of these abbreviations.

e.g. I'll = I will

1. You've, we're, we'll, they'd, let's, haven't.

Copy this out but use the unabbreviated words.

2. I can't believe it. I really didn't think I'd a chance of winning. It's the greatest moment of my life. Of course you don't win an award like this on your own. There are so many others I'd like to thank. Steven's a remarkable man, he's just so dedicated. Then there's my stylist Jade; she's got such awesome talent. Stella's the greatest designer ever. I'd like to thank Mum and Dad; they're simply the best. And of course there's you, my adoring fans. You're the greatest. I love you all!
